DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: the structure and orientation of the elements that "deviate from the rotationanl axis". It is unclear as to how this limitation is accomplished absence adequate basis in the claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2,5 and 7 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by DE('904).

DE ('904) discloses all of the subject matter as set forth in the claims and is identical to the invention as broadly recited. Some of the claimed elements clearly disclosed by the reference are: an approximately semicircular cutting blade (8) having a rake face and a flank face where the rake face is at a negative angle (see figure 2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DE ('904).

In regard to claim 2, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed predetermined distance since it appears that it would not have a major effect on the efficiency and operation of the tool and further since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

In regard to claim 6, even though applicants claims are generally directed to apparatus limitations Official Notice is taken of the use of mirror polishing. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use mirror polishing to round the blade since the use of such is old and well known in the art.

Claims 3 and 4 as best understood are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over DE ('904) in view of Anjanappa et al.

DE (904) discloses the claimed invention except for a rake face and a flank face having different predetermined angles. Anjanappa et al. teaches that it is well known in the art to use a rake face and a flank face having different predetermined angles in a ball end mill assembly (see figure 10a). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the rake face and the flank face of DE('904) with different predetermined angles in the manner as taught by Anjanappa et al. in order to provide the toll with a different cutting option.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 8/9/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the elements and orientation of said elements that "deviate") are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Art Unit: 3722

In response to applicant's argument that the patent to Anjanappa et al is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the patent to Anjanappa et al is a work deforming tool that is used to deform a hard or composite workpiece. Therefore the tool of Anjanappa et al is reasonably pertinent and analogous to applicant's invention.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier
